APA Assembly & 166th Annual Meeting Held in San Francisco, May 17-22

This year's APA Assembly and Annual Meeting, May 18-22, were chock-full of awards, announcements and presentations and kept attendees busy. NCPA's Executive Director Robin Huffman, Immediate Past President and APA Assembly Representative Debra A. Bolick, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., and APA Assembly Representative Steve Buie, M.D., D.F.A.P.A. attended the Assembly officially on behalf of our district branch. Of course, many other NCPA members attended the Annual Meeting or other affiliated meetings held over the course of the week.

Honors and Awards

On May 20, the APA held its 57th Convocation of Distinguished Fellows. North Carolina had many faces in the crowd of new inductees – congratulations to our honorees! Distinguished Life Fellows: Burt Johnson, M.D., D.L.F.A.P.A., Thomas Penders, M.D., D.L.F.A.P.A., and Phyllis Bogard, M.D., D.L.F.A.P.A. Distinguished Fellows: Christopher Aiken, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., Ayesha Chaudhary, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., Ranota Hall, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., Sarah Lisanby, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., and Rex Moody, M.D., D.F.A.P.A. Fellows: Alycia Brown, M.D., F.A.P.A., Donald Eknayan, M.D., F.A.P.A., Madhubala Engineer, M.D., F.A.P.A., Pamela Pittman, M.D., F.A.P.A., Philip Spiro, M.D., F.A.P.A., and Gratiela Zbarcea, M.D., F.A.P.A.

Dr. Bolick and Dr. Buie also accepted an Honorable Mention for the 2013 District Branch Best Practice Award on behalf of the NC Psychiatric Association. North

NCPA Member Presented National Award at APA Annual Meeting

Sy A. Saeed, M.D., D.F.A.P.A. received the APF Administrative Psychiatry Award and presented a lecture during the APA's 166th Annual Meeting. Dr. Saeed is the Chair of Psychiatric Medicine at East Carolina University and Chief of Psychiatry at Vidant Medical Center. He is a longtime member of the APA and has been a member of the NC Psychiatric Association since 2004.

Established in 1983 to honor an APA member who is a nationally-recognized clinician executive, whose effectiveness as an administrator of major mental health programs has expanded the body of knowledge of management in the mental health services delivery system, and whose effectiveness has made it possible for them to function as a role model for other psychiatrists. This award is cosponsored and selected by the American Association of Psychiatric Administrators. The award and lecture were presented on Saturday, May 18. Pictured below: Dr. Saeed's presentation.

New NCPA Executive Council Begins Term

Earlier this spring, NCPA members returned their election ballots, voting to overwhelmingly approve the 2013-2014 slate of officers. Choosing leadership for the professional association is one of the most important duties of NCPA's members. Voting instruction letters were mailed in January, and members had until March 8, to return their completed ballots.

The NCPA's calendar runs through April 30, and the newly-elected officers began their terms officially at the close of the APA Annual Meeting.

Congratulations to the incoming NCPA officers for 2013-2014! The full Executive Council membership is included in the masthead below.

Amid Another Round of NC Mental Health Changes, A Pep Talk

Ranota T. Hall, M.D., D.F.A.P.A., President

As your new president I have been charged, as my predecessors were, with writing an article for the newsletter. As I pondered this task, I wondered what I could possibly say to my esteemed colleagues that would be of benefit. It led me to take a trip down memory lane: to the time before DSM-5, before CPT code changes, before managed care, MCOs and LMEs, to a time when there were county mental health centers. When there were no such phrases as "evidence-based psychiatry" and "second generation antipsychotics."

There was a time before mental health reform 1.0, 2.0 and 3.0. What's more, these continuous changes have been heaped upon those with mental health, developmental disabilities and substance abuse needs for a generation. And, these changes have been experienced by our profession as well.

Surely everyone is a bit tired at this point. I am not saying that change is a bad thing; in fact, I believe a system that cannot critically assess itself and make meaningful change will ultimately not evolve and improve. With this historical context in mind, I questioned what could I possibly say that is relevant? And then it hit me—we need a pep talk.

I am the mother of two young adults who are part of the digital generation, so YouTube is a frequent reference in our house. For those of you who have not seen the Kid President video where a 9-year-old "president" delivers a pep talk, you should take few minutes to watch it. It is truly inspirational. I cannot reproduce what this youngster accomplished in three and a half minutes, but I do know that as an association, we could use a few minutes of pep.

So here goes... are you ready? Because this is simple:

People, we are the Psychiatrists of the State of North Carolina. We have a purpose and a charge that no one other than our profession can fulfill. We are not playing dress-up as doctors. We are doctors. More importantly, we are the mental health experts who must speak to uphold the clinical integrity of mental health treatment in the State of North Carolina. We do not lower the bar. We inform where the bar rests and work to keep it there.

Why? Because of the oath we took when we completed medical school. Because we are in a unique position to promote access to quality care and to ensure a sufficient workforce across the state. We have an important and necessary role to play and need to maintain our place at the table. It is from where we sit and present—our stance—that we can best serve our mission as an organization. And best serve the people of our state.

But we need the energy and the resolve. So we are going to gather shoulder-to-shoulder, and link arms and stand tall. In our private practices, teaching hospitals, clinics, agencies, MCOs and inpatient facilities we are going to look in the mirror and at each other and say "We've got this." We are not going to ask permission for the things we were trained to do. We are going to lead. We are going to be a united house of medicine and hold our heads up high. We are going to continue to ask our colleagues to join us and we are going to get the tasks that lay ahead of us done.

...we are the mental health experts who must speak to uphold the clinical integrity of mental health treatment in the State of North Carolina.

So, as my little friend on YouTube says, "come on people, let's do this!" We will start with a retreat of our Executive Council in June to fine tune what we do as an organization and set goals for the upcoming year.

Be ready, because you are going to get a phone call—to act, if you aren't already. It will require work, but don't worry, it is going to be fun. This is our time. Let's get out there!

Update on the Public Policy Front

Robin B. Huffman, Executive Director

The Senate unveiled its budget bill on a Sunday night and passed it through committees and the full Senate by Wednesday. That kind of speed means several things: 1) details in this article will be obsolete by the time you read this; 2) careful, thoughtful deliberations are the exception, not the rule; 3) we need to act swiftly when a concern rises; and 4) it is true what they say about legislation and making sausage.

Tenor of the Chambers

If you've read the newspapers you already know that, in addition to the work at hand, leaders of both chambers appear to be readying to run against each other for the US Senate seat currently held by Kay Hagan (D). This seems to be complicating the already interesting dynamics of a relatively new and inexperienced legislative body, diminished roles for those previously in leadership positions, and diverse ideological leanings from the party in power. Add to that the competing interests of holding down costs (complicated by the increasing Medicaid budget) and lowering taxes.

As one state Senator said to me yesterday, "So where are we going to find 1.3 billion dollars?" Those advocating in the legislative buildings recognize that we need to do a great deal of education and that we cannot assume anything based on a legislator's party affiliation. As one of psychiatry's lobbyists, it feels to me like being a high school student entering a new school and having to reorient to new people, new procedures, new cliques, and new rules!

Priority Issues for NCPA

Tax Reform: The idea of taxing services of physicians, lawyers, auto mechanics and others in the service industry is not new to our state, but the strong interest in finding new revenue puts this concept in play. As I type this article, my computer is streaming audio of the House Finance discussion of its "Simplify Adjustment to Federal Taxable Income" bill.

The dueling tax plans all propose lowering individual income tax rates and eliminating the state's estate taxes. Corporate income tax rates would also drop in both current plans. At this moment, the House does not include physician services in its sales tax plan. The Senate has just released its bill, which includes a 5 percent tax on all healthcare and medical services. We will try to keep members apprised through our electronic newsletters and alerts and welcome any news you are hearing from your accounts!

Items in the Proposed Budget (as of press time): Embedded in the 414-page Senate Budget (SB402) are a number of provisions. NCPA will be working to oppose these provisions to have them removed from the House and then the final budget; some of these items we support. Among the provisions of interest to our members:

- Closure of the three state Alcohol and Drug Abuse Treatment Centers (ADATCs). Some $30+ million would be "saved" by these closures (effective September 1, 2013), with only about a third of the savings going to pay for community-based services the legislators think will take their place. (We hope this plan will have been reversed by the time you read this.)

- There is a $15 million cut to LME/MCO administration.
- Closure of the Wright School: savings of $2.7 million for this 24-bed residential facility for complexly ill children.
- $9 million in previously allocated funds have been released for use to expand the number of "three-way contract" beds, additional payment for patients treated in local community psychiatric units.

- $2 million to establish a statewide telepsychiatry program to help reduce wait times in hospital emergency departments. NCPA members have been involved in developing this plan.
- Almost $2 million for funds put in the budget to implement the N.C. Child Treatment Program statewide.

The Senate budget also has special provisions of interest:

- Section 12H.13.(d)(1) requires prior authorization for outpatient medical visits in excess of 10 (of the total 22 visits allowed per year).
- Section 12H.13.(d)(4) "Prior authorization is required for all mental health drugs. A 72-hour emergency supply may be provided if a beneficiary is waiting for acknowledgement of the prior authorization request."
- Section 12H.18 describes the proposed new "Shared Savings Plan with Providers."

This is not a tax, but it calls for a 4 percent reduction in rates (beginning in July) for Medicaid medical providers, including physicians, hospitals, etc., to be put into a "shared savings pool." If savings are achieved in Medicaid, a percentage of the shared pool—I don't believe the savings—will go back to the providers. Shared savings and withholds are not uncommon in Accountable Care Organizations or local capitated plans where teams work together and can collaborate and coordinate care for patient and system good. What is not clear is how this provision will impact psychiatrists in the Medicaid program, who are paid by the LME/MCOs.

This is just a quick report on what is happening this week (May 27-31) in the General Assembly. It will be old news by the time you read this, but we wanted to give you a snapshot of the activity and work that your NCPA is involved in here in Raleigh. Legislative policy moves quickly, and we are so grateful for our members who stop what they are doing to make phone calls, write emails, and go visit elected officials when we ask. The state Senator I referred to earlier also said to me yesterday, "Well, our office didn't hear from many people on that issue." We don't want your practices and your patients negatively impacted because "we didn't hear from doctors." 🌿

Carolina received the honorable mention for its coordination of the December 2012 CPT Coding and Practice Management Workshop for district branch members and practice staff. The NCPA has won the District Branch Best Practice Award four times since the award's inception in 2002, most recently in 2012; it has received an Honorable Mention in the category twice.
